Instructions

Bordetella is a vaccination which protects your dog against kennel cough. This vaccination is recommended for all dogs as kennel cough is a highly contagious illness that can be acquired anywhere dogs are present, particularly in kennels, grooming parlors, dog shows, or during hospitalization. This vaccination should be boosted in 3-4 weeks initially, then once a year to ensure best protection. A few pets may experience some lethargy and soreness from the vaccination. If this persists longer than 24 hours, please call our office.

A few pets may experience some lethargy and soreness from the vaccinations. If this persists longer than 24 hours, please call our office.

The rabies vaccination your pet has just received will need to be boosted in one year to provide the most effective protection. After the one-year booster, your pet can be vaccinated every three years. You will receive a reminder when it is next due.
